Katherine (Katie) Graveline RN, BSN is currently working as a Community Health Nurse at QueensCare Health & Faith Partnership. She graduated Summa Cum Laude from Oregon State University with a degree in Human Development & Family Sciences prior to obtaining her nursing degree at Oregon Health & Sciences University. She has three years of experience working as a cardiac nurse both in the inpatient and outpatient realm, treating patients with a variety of cardiovascular conditions and comorbidities. Katie has a passion for patient education and disease prevention; she hopes to use her career to promote cardiovascular wellness among at-risk populations.

New to Los Angeles, Katie loves to explore new areas and activities (those that are open) with her husband. However, her favorite activities are spending time with family, reading, and solving escape rooms. Her goals while working in Los Angeles are to brush up on her Spanish and to make a definitive list of the city's best chocolate chip cookies.
